

BATTERED WOMEN AND CHILDREN'S MEMORIAL GARDEN

CONVERSATIONS AT THE MEMORIAL GARDEN

First Sunday of every month, 2012 ~ 1:30 p.m. - 3 p.m.
2340 East Stadium Boulevard, Suite 8, Ann Arbor, MI 48104
(One block west of Trader Joe's)

Lead the discussion

(February 5, 2012 topic)

What discussion
should the Memorial Garden lead?

What does it mean to "lead the discussion"?

What are the alternatives to "leading" the discussion?

Is it possible to have a safe discussion of violence?

Who is leading the discussion now?

MISSION

The BATTERED WOMEN AND CHILDREN'S MEMORIAL GARDEN is an alliance of people desiring an end to violence. We form a beacon of hope to honor the disempowered, remember those lost, and inspire justice through bearing witness, education, advocacy, and service.

VISION

The BATTERED WOMEN AND CHILDREN'S MEMORIAL GARDEN creates a world in which each child, woman, and man values one another equally.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

We choose these fundamental principles for guiding our thinking, conduct and practices as an organization:

- Remain loyal to the disempowered
- Lead the discussion
- Ask questions
- Challenge gendered assumptions
- Expose and oppose oppression
- Apply accountability
- Honor diversity
- Practice responsible environmental stewardship
- Speak truth to power
- Make privilege visible
- Eradicate misogyny

Meeting Opening and Closing

We are here as a community of hearts to bear witness to past and present violence against women and children. This violence is created by perpetrators who rip through victims. Perpetrators create seismic waves of hatred and destruction that ripple out to families, communities and the world. This Battered Women and Children's Memorial Garden community dedicates our hearts, our time and our efforts today to you _____.
